2. 20.11.2008 Heard learned counsel for the petitioners, learned counsel for the State and learned counsel for the informant, who has appeared suo motu.

The petitioners are the father-in-law and other family members of the husband apprehending arrest in a police case under Sections 498A and 506 of the Penal Code including Sections ¾ of Dowry Prohibition Act.

It is submitted that the husband filed a divorce case in which after issuance of notice the present allegations have been made. There are no heinous allegations of physical assault.

Learned counsel for the informant submits that the husband of the victim has moved for anticipatory bail in another application and that this application be heard along with the same. He simultaneously submits that it is the husband who has harassed the informant but of course with the aid of petitioner no.1.
